

Planning One-on-Ones

Below are three examples of how your one-on-ones should go throughout the semester. The idea is to meet for one hour every two weeks for an intentional one-on-one. This assumes that you are spending time together outside of these scheduled meetings for fun and friendship.

Faithful Frannie - you know her well, and she has shown true faith in God and maturity. She regularly attends small group and WNL, and has committed to be part of the community. She is a friend and you feel you can gain as much from her as you have to give.

Week	What to do
Jan 24	Catch up, talk about personal goals and hopes for this semester. Bring up the idea of intentional meetings and agree on a regular meeting time every other week.
Feb 7	Talk about spiritual disciplines. Invite her to plan small group worship - plan it together and then execute together that week in group.
Feb 21	Read through "Lordship" competency together and discuss
Mar 13	Invite her to lead content with you at small group. Plan the lesson and pray for your group together.
Mar 27	Read "Taking thoughts captive" competency and discuss together
Apr 10	Read Matthew 28:18-20. Discuss disciple-making and small group leadership. What is it like and is it right for her? If not, how will she make disciples?
Apr 24	Talk about all she has learned through the semester, and what she will face during the summer. Make a plan of action.

Newbie Nate - He is young, and young in his faith. Maybe he grew up in church - he has head knowledge but is still figuring out what that means in his life and decisions. You feel like a big brother to him - you see his potential but also want to call him to more. It's clear he enjoys your friendship and is interested in learning more about life in Christ.

Jan 24	Catch up, talk about personal goals and hopes for this semester. Bring up the idea of intentional meetings and agree on a regular meeting time every other week.
Feb 7	Read through "Salvation: the cross" competency. Discuss together
Feb 21	Invite him to lead the "BBR" time during next small group. Plan it together. Pray for your time together.
Mar 13	Read through "Living for the Glory of God" competency and discuss
Mar 27	Read through "Holy Spirit" competency and discuss.
Apr 10	Read and discuss together "Global Missions part 1"
Apr 24	Talk about all he has learned through the semester, and what he will face during the summer. Make a plan of action.

Hungry Hannah - she is a regular part of your small group,, but you just aren't sure where she is in her spiritual journey - you don't even know if she has given her life to Christ, or maybe she's a brand new believer. She wants to know more, though, and has lots of questions.

Jan 24	Catch up, talk about personal goals and hopes for this semester. Bring up the idea of intentional meetings and agree on a regular meeting time every other week.
Feb 7	Go through "Beginner's Bible Study, pt 1" from the appendix in your student leaders' retreat notebook.
Feb 21	Go through "Beginner's Bible Study, pt 2"
Mar 13	Go through "Beginner's Bible Study, pt 3"
Mar 27	Go through PROAPT and ACTs with her. Or go through a manuscript study together on John 15.
Apr 10	Ask her how her spiritual disciplines are going. Trouble shoot. If she is struggling, do another PROAPT together.
Apr 24	Talk about all she has learned through the semester, and what she will face during the summer. Make a plan of action together.
